

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The invention provides a decision support method comprising: for two or more pre-defined criteria and one or more pre-defined and ordinally ranked categories for each criterion, a method for determining a point value for each category on each criterion by ordinal pairwise ranking of profile pairs, wherein each profile comprises two or more of the criteria, each criterion associated with one of the categories for that criterion. The invention also provides a related system and computer program.